The World Veterinary Cancer Congress (WVCC) is an international conference held every four years with the aim of improving and developing the level of education in veterinary oncology around the world: This congress is organized in collaboration with veterinary oncology associations around the world including JVCS, VCS, ESVONC, ABROVET and AMONCOVET.

The WVCC began in 2008 in Copenhagen, Denmark; followed by Paris, France, in 2012, in Foz do Iguaçu, Brazil, in 2016 and now, the 2024 congress to be held in Tokyo, Japan.

We look forward to welcoming you with a deep sense of "Omotenashi" hospitality.
